DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: The first sentence of the specification should mention the continuation of the parent application.

Appropriate correction is required.

Double Patenting

2. A rejection based on double patenting of the "same invention" type finds its support in the language of 35 U.S.C. 101 which states that "whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process ... may obtain a patent therefor ..." (Emphasis added). Thus, the term "same invention," in this context, means an invention drawn to identical subject matter. See Miller v. Eagle Mfg. Co., 151 U.S. 186 (1894); In re Ockert, 245 F.2d 467, 114 USPQ 330 (CCPA 1957); and In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970).

A statutory type (35 U.S.C. 101) double patenting rejection can be overcome by canceling or amending the conflicting claims so they are no longer coextensive in scope. The filing of a terminal disclaimer cannot overcome a double patenting rejection based upon 35 U.S.C. 101.

3. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 as claiming the same invention as that of claims 1-3 of prior U.S. Patent No. 6,441,862. This is a double patenting rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 4, and 6-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Lawler et al. (5,699,107).

Regarding claims 4, and 6-10, Lawler discloses an electronic program guide system (Figure 3) showing an electronic program guide display area (88) and a television program display area (110). The program guide display is switched from a normal television program when a guide display mode switch is selected. The selecting and displaying steps clearly meet the steps as claimed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 5, and 12-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lawler et al. (5,699,107).

Regarding claims 5, and 12-13, Lawler teaches that the selected program can be a recorded program (col. 10, lines 40-43), except the guide information comprises a TIG. In any event, Lawler teaches that the menu may allow a user to determine whether the program was recorded by the user or whether a recording of the program is available for ordering from the head end...the menu may also include other options (col. 14, lines 12-19). Such menu is essentially the equivalent of the TIG menu as claimed.

Hence, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to modify Lawler to include a TIG menu to perform the well known functions as claimed. It should be noted that Lawler is capable to select a television program from either a recorded source, such as a VCR, or a head end provider based on the control of a viewer via a remote control.

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
